Today's audience includes the conferees from our 23rd Annual Minority Career Workshop. This two-day workshop consists of a one-day orientation to the media business, featuring panelists from all areas of the industry, and a one-day career fair, which provides attendees with an opportunity to interview with more than 30 major communication companies. These exceptional students have come from colleges and universities across the nation and possess a strong passion for and desire to succeed in our industry. Please give a warm welcome to these talented young professionals — our future leaders.
